LightGabler

Camarillo

With 30 years of experience counseling businesses in all aspects of employment law, LightGabler attorney Karen Gabler has developed proactive and creative strategies to enhance workplace productivity, improve workplace culture, ensure legal compliance and avoid employment disputes. Gabler co-founded LightGabler in 2011 and was instrumental in the firm growing from just seven employees and 87 clients to 26 employees and more than 3,000 clients.

Gabler serves as an employment law and human resources expert for more than 850 businesses, providing legal and business counsel to management and conducting training programs for management and employees. She audits clients' employment practices and conducts investigations of employee complaints, and also defends business owners and managers against employee claims. Additionally, Gabler writes her firm's legal updates and authored more than 25 COVID-19 legal updates for clients.

Gabler graduated from the University of Hawaii with a bachelor's degree in psychology. She earned her law degree from the University of Hawaii's William S. Richardson School of Law.
